

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

READ ON THE WATERS.

BY A. M. DAVIES OGDEN.

The footman turned to come down the steps after leaving the car door open. Miss Mallory leaned over the victoria with a sigh of relief. It had been a long, tiresome drive, but she had used her last ounce of strength to get her "out," and these people being for her, she would go home to her thoughts. For some time, Miss Mallory had been much troubled lately. Strange that after years of absence the recollection of that dark eyes and clean-cut nose should linger thus vividly. Miss Mallory sighed.

"You had been so suddenly and so wordily looking up to give the girl a good scolding, but she was a woman standing before you with a gaze hungry for love herself. As their eyes met, you came slowly forward, and you lent me five dollars," she said. The voice was sweet and modulated, as Miss Mallory remembered her surprise. Nor did she appear to be surprised. She had been cautioned not to give the girl money, but she had given it. She had been cautioned not to give the girl money, but she had given it. She had been cautioned not to give the girl money, but she had given it.

But you must give me your name and address on the card which I am sending you. I will send it back. You shall have it. But you must give me your name and address on the card which I am sending you. I will send it back. You shall have it.

But you must give me your name and address on the card which I am sending you. I will send it back. You shall have it. But you must give me your name and address on the card which I am sending you. I will send it back. You shall have it. But you must give me your name and address on the card which I am sending you. I will send it back. You shall have it.

But you must give me your name and address on the card which I am sending you. I will send it back. You shall have it. But you must give me your name and address on the card which I am sending you. I will send it back. You shall have it. But you must give me your name and address on the card which I am sending you. I will send it back. You shall have it.

maid for it," he confessed shamefacedly. "From having seen it so often, my sister felt vaguely that here at last was a friend, although, of course, unwittingly. And so she dared to ask." Miss Mallory, who was sobbing unrestrainedly, lifted her face.

"Oh, the dear woman!" she exclaimed brokenly. "How glad I am; how glad I am! And is she safe?"

"Quite safe," was the thankful answer. "The shock, your kindness, something must have strengthened and braced her. She returned last night. And you can fancy what it meant to us. But when she showed me the blessed card which told me who it was that had saved her, it sent a message. Was I wrong, dear?" and the man's voice was wonderfully tender. The girl, puzzled, shook her head.

"I don't understand," she said faintly. Humanson laid a visiting card in her hand.

"Look!" he said. It was the card upon which she had scribbled her address. "Turn it over," as the girl seemed bewildered. A low cry broke from the red lips.

"Oh," she stammered, while her color flooded up to her pretty curly hair. "I—I was in a hurry—I thought it was one of father's—I—her confusion increasing pitifully. But the man's strong grasp had again caught the fluttering little hands.

"I thought that if you had cared enough to carry a man's card in your card case for three years that you must have cared a little for the man himself," he said eagerly. "Was I wrong, sweetheart? Are you going to send me away again?"

The girl, her eyes fixed on the betraying bit of pasteboard whereon in fine script ran the words, "Mr. Roland Humanson," dropped her head.

"No," she answered shyly. "Please—please stay."

the happiest auspices. The presents were of an endless variety, showing the large number of friends the bride and groom have in the city.

Samuel Newhouse returned yesterday, after an absence of several months in the East and Europe. Mrs. Newhouse was to sail yesterday for New York and may be here this month. Now that Mr. Newhouse is back society will no doubt brighten up perceptibly, as he is a congenial and most hospitable entertainer. He will be present at the first tennis tournament for the Newhouse trophy at the Country club Saturday, and his presence will be an incentive to the contestants.

It was stated yesterday that another engagement has just been arranged in the fashionable set which will be quite a surprise when it is announced. They have been at church and at the theater frequently of late, so their friends may possibly be able to guess who they are.

Many Utah friends were deeply interested in the marriage yesterday in Washington of Mrs. McLaughlin and Dr. McEnery.

Miss Geddes gives a luncheon at the Country club next Saturday.

Mrs. E. C. Parsons left for Colorado last evening.

Karl Prinz, a prominent business man of Milwaukee, is in the city, having come West to be present at the wedding last night of Miss Crane and Mr. Walker.

Some local parties were said to be figuring on the purchase of the Giffen place, now used by the Country club. It is desired for a country home and if the deal goes through a fine residence will be built on the site after the club lease expires.

Miss McGrath delightfully entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of Mrs. Luellwitz.

Five Milch Cows Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—An endeavor to store 165 tons of hay in the upper part of a barn unable to withstand such weight resulted today in the collapse of the structure and the death of sixty-eight head of fine milch cows, with a total loss over $10,000.

SPOKANE, Oct. 5.—While riding a four-mile relay race against two other women at the Interstate fair track today, Miss Minnie Austin was thrown from her horse by the loosening of the saddle girth and seriously injured.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5.—The Northern Pacific railroad has announced a rate on apples to apply from points in eastern Washington and Idaho, including the Washington & Columbia River branch, as far east as Staples, Minn. The new rate will be 60 cents per hundred, with a 20,000-pound minimum.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—The engagement of Max Heinrich, the singer and composer, to Miss Anna Held, the German operatic, student and musician, has been announced. Miss Held is at present the guest of Madame Modjeska, at Arden. Miss Held is no relative of the actress of the same name.

BILLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 5.—Since the first of this week the run of silver salmon has been sufficient to supply the seven canneries of the river, which are putting up fall fish, to their full capacity. Heretofore the catches have been spasmodic. The run is a good one and is fairly on.

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—The Emperor today decorated Col. Head, the Austrian attaché, with the Order of the Rising Sun. Col. Head is the first attaché to be so honored.

SEOUL, Oct. 5.—Eight Japanese contractors engaged in recruiting Korean laborers of Kookan, 150 miles south, close to the line of the Seoul & Fusan railway, became involved in a fight with a Korean mob. All were killed.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 5.—The British cruiser Pelorus sailed last night for Nicaragua in connection with the recent seizure of Cayman Islands turtle-fishing schooners.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—The municipalities of Moscow and Odessa have both sent addresses to Prince Peter Sviatopolk-Mirsky, the new Minister of the Interior, congratulating him on the recent election. In his recent utterances and tendering him their hearty co-operation.

DANGERS TO BE AVOIDED IN OCTOBER.

DURING the warm summer months the skin has been freely throwing off the impurities of the body in the form of perspiration.

THE cool days and cooler nights of October, in a measure, stop the action of the skin.

IMPURITIES which heretofore were thrown off by the skin, must find some outlet. They should be excreted by the kidneys.

A GREAT STRAIN is thus thrown upon the kidneys. They are not always prepared for this increased labor. They break down.

THE POISONS passing through the kidneys serve to irritate them, and this condition soon develops into serious ailments, among them Bright's Disease.

THE LIVER, too, acts in sympathy with the kidneys. It becomes deranged, causing sallow skins, depression of spirits and lassitude.

AN ABNORMAL CONDITION of the bowels also presents itself. Constipation and other bowel troubles result.

THE blood becomes poisoned by the retained excretions. Pimples, blotches, muddy complexions are the first result and finally the whole system becomes deranged.

COLDS are very easily caught during this depleted condition of the system.

AT THIS TIME the kidneys, liver and bowels need a little encouragement, a little assistance—that is all. PERUNA gives just this assistance. It gently stimulates these organs to increased function. Thus Peruna guards against the possibilities of disease.

PEOPLE INCLINED TO WEAKNESS of these organs ought to be especially careful during this month.

AT THE FIRST SIGN of disease, such as puffiness under the eyes, sallow skin, backache, colds, and so forth, Peruna should be taken.

IF YOU NOTICE any of the above symptoms, do not delay—buy a bottle of Peruna today. A bottle of Peruna taken at the first symptom will do more good than a dozen bottles later on when serious ailments have developed.

WE HAVE ON FILE thousands of grateful letters which Dr. Hartman has received from people who have been cured by Peruna.

MISS MARGRET HUESTON.

THE FOLLOWING TESTIMONIAL is only a sample of the many testimonials contained in our files:—

MISS MARGRET HUESTON, 1127 Linden street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"Peruna is indeed a household blessing. Last fall I caught a severe cold which developed into a most unpleasant catarrh, and for over two weeks I could neither enjoy my food nor secure restful sleep. I became nervous and irritable and nothing looked just right to me. A good neighbor advised me to try Peruna and I immediately sent for a bottle. I am very glad indeed that I did. I began to feel relief in a week, and soon felt better than I had in two years. I do not dread a cold any more as I used to, for a small quantity of Peruna cures me."—Margaret Hueston.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

People Know How Useful It Is Preserving Health and Beauty.

Everybody knows that charcoal is the most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize how when taken into the human system it cleanses the blood and purifies the skin.
